The 140 CSS' food service section added to its unit's accomplishments in 1983 by sending food service personnel to places like Camp Rilea, OR., to support 154th Tactical Control Group operations. Other members went to Eglin AFB, FL, where they took "Prime Ribs" training on operating under combat conditions, including chemical warfare attacks. Other food service members deployed to McGhee Tyson ARPT, TN. Still others went overseas to support activities in Suwon and Kim-hae, South Korea.

A COANG reorganization in late 1973 saw the deactivation of the 140th Supply Squadron and the activation of the 140th Weapons System Security Flight, the 140th Mobility Support Flight and the reorganization of the 140th Combat Support Squadron.
