OPERATIONS

The 165th Logistics Group continues to maintain a rich and honorable military history. The 165th

Logistics Group's mission is: To provide the quality logistics support necessary to maximize mission capability of the 165th Airlift Wing and its Geographically Separated Units while employing a customer focus to monitor and administer aircraft maintenance, supplies, fuels, contracting, and transportation assets.

The 165th Logistics Group (LG) was federally recognized on 1 March 1994 as a component of the Air National Guard Objective Wing reorganization. During this restructure of Air National Guard flying units, the Deputy Commander for Maintenance became the Logistics Group Commander, responsible for the 165th Maintenance Squadron, 165th Aircraft Generation Squadron, 165th Logistics Squadron, and the 165th Logistics Support Flight. The 165th Logistics Group Staff is composed of an Information Management Officer, a Maintenance Quality Assurance Officer, a Maintenance Quality Assurance Supervisor, and several Administrative Support Specialists.
