OPERATIONS

One day after the seventh anniversary of the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor the 107th Fighter Group came into existence. On December 8th 1948, during formal ceremonies under the roof of the Naval Air Station the following units were activated: 136th Fighter Squadron, LtCol Robert J Kirsch, Commander; 107th Fighter Group, Lt Col Lawrence J. Disette, Commander; 207th Air Service Group under the command of Col Myron Hyman.

November 1st 1950 saw a change in the unit organization, the 207th Air Service Group was eliminated and the base went under the wing base plan. This included the forming of the following units; 107th Medical Group, Col Wade B. Ellis; 107th Air Base Group, Col Henry H. Harper; and the 107th M&S Group, Lt Col Joseph W. Manske. The wing was under the command of Col Robert J. Kirsch. The 107th Fighter Group was destined to be moved to Syracuse on the 1st of July 1951.
