Refueling and Fire Truck Maintenance Tops

The refueling and fire truck maintenance sections of the 467th Transportation Squadron provide a vital link in support of Mactan operations.

Under the direction of TSgt. Bernice Rains, the two sections are composed of 39 pieces of equipment, including P2, O11A and R2A fire trucks. Also part of the sections are the R-2 refueling truck and hose carts, and the L6 and MK1 oil trucks.

Diesel and mogas trucks maintenance is also part of the responsibility of Sergeant Rains' sections.

Assisting Sergeant Rains in the refueling and maintenance sections are SSgt. Hammond, SSgt. Eddie Skaggs, A1C John Anderson, A1C Douglas Davis, A1C John Norris, A1C Bobby Clackley, and A1C Franklin Tapscott.

There was a time last year when these men worked in the open, exposed to sun and rain, completing periodic inspections.

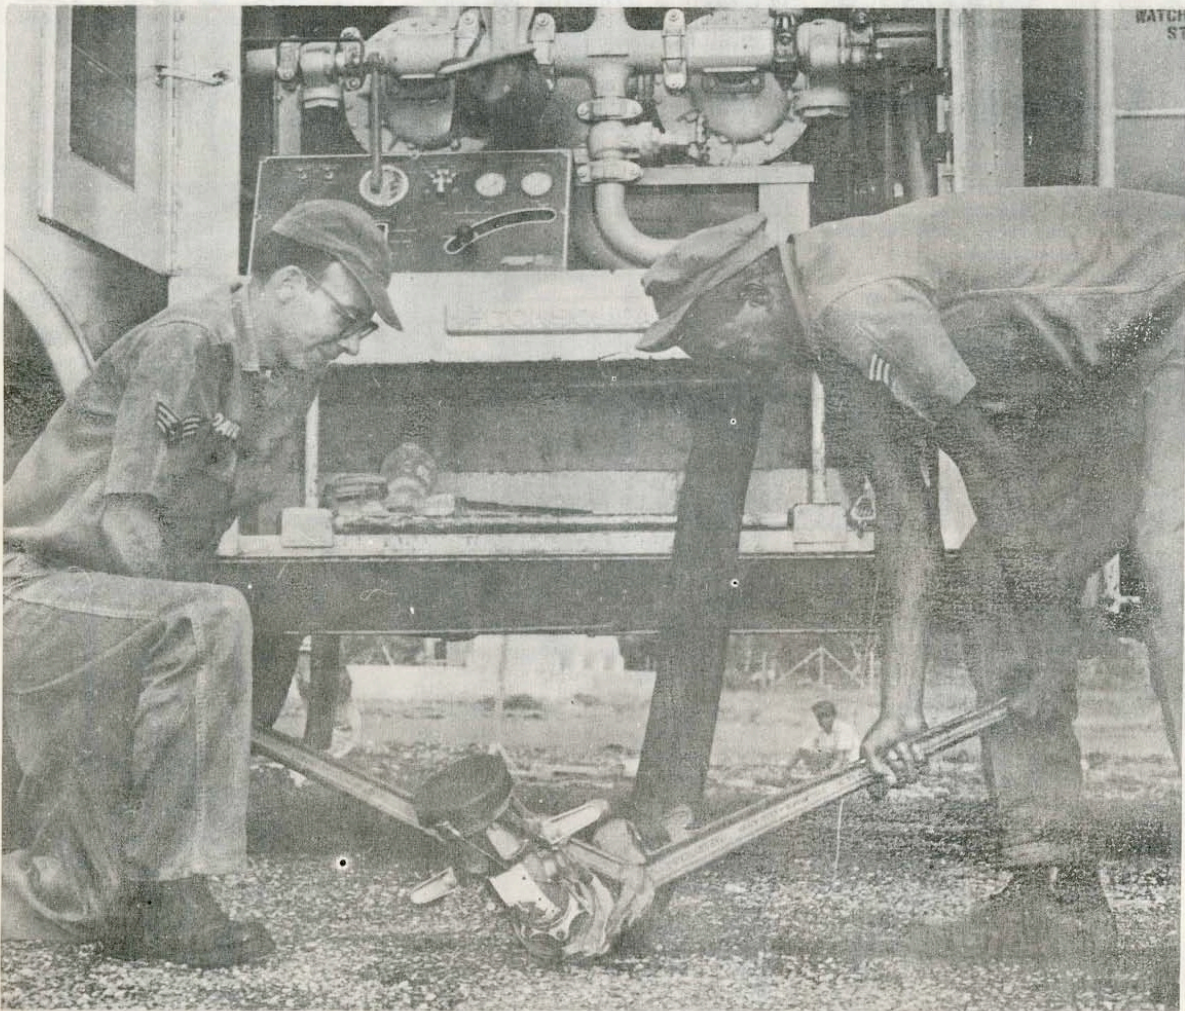

But those days have passed, now the maintenance men have a new shop, recently completed, located near the Base Equipment Management Office (BEMO) building.

Performing as a team, the maintenance men pitch in together whenever one of the fire or refueling trucks rolls in with a problem. This teamwork cuts down the maintenance time considerably.

All the airmen are highly trained in Air Force, civilian maintenance techniques.

From Jan. 29, 1966 until Oct. 7, 1966 the section did not have a vehicle out of commission for parts, pointing out the professionalism of the crew.

Without fuel, aircraft and vehicles can't operate, that's why these 467th Transportation Squadron specialists are important to the overall base operations. (Photo by A1C Butch Wilson)
