

22d COMMUNICATIONS SQUADRON

MISSION

The 22d Communications Squadron provides all the communications required to make Global Reach a reality for the wing, both at home and while deployed. The squadron provides all fixed and cellphones, as well as fixed and mobile radio services. Additionally, the information management flight provides mail, records management and forms publication services to the base. The 22nd CS personnel are the wing's computer systems and LAN experts, managing several key computer systems, as well as hundreds of small computers through the base Communications Focal Point.
