

40th MUNITIONS MAINTENANCE SQUADRON

MISSION

The 40 MMS(T) mission was to store conventional munitions as theater assets. In addition, the squadron assumed responsibility for USAFE Harvest Eagle bare base kits on 31 December 1975, when the Air Force inactivated Detachment 3, 40th Tactical Group. The Harvest Eagle Branch moved to Aviano in 1986 and reassigned to the 40th Tactical Group. Since then the squadron's primary mission has involved maintaining the capability to receive, store, maintain, protect, dispose of, and prepare for the redistribution of non-nuclear munitions in support of the USAP in the Mediterranean area.

EMBLEM

ON a blue disc edged with a narrow black border a yellow sunburst surmounted to sinister by a stylized gray demi-eagle edged black, in dexter base a black bomb highlighted white and enflamed red. Attached above the disc a white scroll edged black and inscribed with the squadron motto PREPARED in black letters. Attached below the disc a blank white scroll edged black. SIGNIFICANCE: The emblem is symbolic of the squadron the USAF colors, ultramarine blue and golden yellow are used in the design. The blue background alludes to the sky, the primary theater of Air Force operations, and yellow to the sun and excellence of squadron personnel in mission performance. The blue and yellow also indicate day and night, 24-hour readiness and the constant capability of the squadron to comply with mission requirements. The ordnance symbol is representative of the variety of conventional weapon systems maintained by the squadron. The eagle symbol is representative of the Harvest Eagle barebase WRM assets maintained by the squadron. The sunburst symbolizes the excellence of squadron personnel, unity of personnel supporting both prime squadron missions and the multifaceted aspects of the squadron mission. (Approved, 29 Sep 1980)
