The 56th Equipment Maintenance Squadron provides an essential combination of both on- and off-equipment aircraft maintenance capability. The Equipment Maintenance Squadron supplies intermediate and flight line maintenance, phase inspections and delivery of aerospace ground equipment to support eight F-16 aircraft maintenance units. The Equipment Maintenance Squadron also provides complete corrosion control and aesthetic care of aircraft, flight line and ground equipment, as well as structural stress assessments and fabrication of numerous aircraft parts. Additionally, the Equipment Maintenance Squadron is responsible for the maintenance of armament systems and munitions support to all organizations within the 56th Fighter Wing.
