OPERATIONS

Project FRELOC began at Evreux Air Base in June 1966. The 7305th Combat Support Squadron was the primary agent to remove all property and close the base. More effort was required to close Evreux because of its active status. There was a large inventory of aircraft support equipment and spare parts to move. By January 1967 virtually all equipment had been removed, and about eighty men were left on base. Evreux-Fauville Air Base was transferred to the French government on 26 March 1967 through the Military Liquidation Service in Paris.
