OPERATIONS

The mission of the 7558th Supply Squadron is to support all US Military Units within the Northern Area as defined by NATO with those classes of property which it has depot responsibilities. The US Military Units supported include the Air Force, Army Engineer, Army Anti Aircraft Units and Air Attaché Units.

To effectively accomplish this mission, the 7558th Supply Squadron is organized under the Commanding Officer into seven major sections: Supply Control, Stock Control, Warehouse, Inspection and Inventory, Shipping and Receiving, Commercial Transportation, and Orderly Room. Each section is divided into Branches and Operating Unit's.

The mission of each section is: Supply Control acts for the Commander in the supervision of administrative and technical operation of AF 2400 DSO Account. Stock Control maintains the Stock Records, Stock Levels, Editing, Requirements, and all other work required in Property Accounting.

Warehouse Section operates the storage space and handle all material in storage, accomplish corrosion control, and operates the Facilities Service Unit. Inspection and Inventory Section has the responsibility of inspection of all property received and shipped by AF 2400 DSO, inventory of all property, all property in stock on monthly, semi-annual, and annual cycles.

Shipping and Receiving Section handles all material and supplies shipped or received by AF 2400 DSO. Commercial Transportation Section arranges for the necessary transport for movement of all supplies from the 7558 Air Depot Group, regulates the flow of supplies from the Ports, and provides passenger and household goods service. Orderly Room administrated the executive duties of the Squadron.
